Scenes of Madrid, Spain

Snow-capped Mountains and Goya's Paintings

As we left Granada for Madrid, the snow-capped mountains seemed very close. It was a picturesque sight to see the clouds over the snow.

Soon we came to Jaen, the city that is the center of the olive industry in Spain. We saw a lot of re-forestation, which is a national project. There were a number of fields of black goats, and every time I saw any I remembered I had eaten goat meat for lunch.

We stopped in Manzanares for lunch and were given a printed menu — assorted hors d'oeuvre, spinach omelet, roast veal with vegetables and fruit salad. The first course consisted of small portions of meat balls, green onions, garden peas, quartered hard-boiled eggs, pressed meat, olives, creamed potatoes and peas and a small roll.

Water is seldom, if ever, served, and many members of the tour were buying water in bottles. At this restaurant, American cigarettes were thirty and forty cents a pack.

On the outskirts of Madrid the government is building many low-rent apartment buildings.

It is true that some churchmen in our time believe that they have a duty to be "activists." If activism is confined to good works, to giving a personal example by way of faith and devotion and love, then it always will be welcomed by men of good will. But activism that is defined in political terms and that manifests it by supporting movements and organizations that disrupt a nation of community — that kind of activism is contrary to everything for which religion is supposed to stand.

And when the NCC turns activist, in giving money and moral support to black power and black nationalist groups, it is certainly not doing a service to the church. It is in the name of peace and good will in the country. It is helping to keep the fire of our unity and brotherhood.

Thus the NCC, by its political involvement, is rejecting a ministry of reconciliation and is leading support to an angry confrontation in the streets that can only bring internal disaster to our free society based on the rule of law.

to enter our bus on our first morning here, traffic had stopped because the Royal Guard, on horseback, were going to the Royal Palace. There were one-hundred and forty horses and soldiers.

The uniform of a bright blue trimmed in red. Each soldier had on a flowing cape and a metal hat much like the former German helmets. The roofs of the houses are decorated with gold and silver. This was all because a visiting dignitary was in town. He was never announced to the public before-hand.

The University of Madrid covers many acres and there are many new buildings. It has a capacity of forty-thousand students. It is situated on high ground overlooking a park.

The guide told us that there is an aluminum statue of a man on horseback leaning over a fence, looking at the ground, given to Spain by the United States.

This college has special buildings for philosophy, art, medicine, engineering, pharmacy and political science.

The guide told us that the new supermarkets, because they did not like the old supermarkets, because they gation of the body and all of his faces are very different.

Religion was his favorite subject and his picture, Christ Carrying the Cross is outstanding. The Holy Trinity and the Adoration of the Shepherds were his favorites.

His uncle is actually known about El Greco's life as he was not famous until late in life. He was born on the island of Crete in 1540 and spent many years in Venice. After he came to Toledo, he became famous.

I enjoyed the pictures by Goya especially, because the people looked so lifelike. The Voice Harvest, Dance and the Shower of Gold and the Charcoal Burners were outstanding. There are over a dozen people in the last painting and the detail given to the suits, dresses, lace and jewelry is wonderful.

His two most famous pictures, the Maja Nude and the Maja Dressed, thought by many to have been posed by the Duchess of Alba.

The Milkmaid of Bordeaux is supposed to be the last painting. Goya did not read or write, but used to draw pictures on the outside of his home. One day a painter happened to come by and see these and started painting Goya. He has mistaken places in the Prado.

Velasquez was a Royal Artist and his people are charged with the duty to protect him. Philip IV on Horseback is an example. The Maid of Honor is a royal figure group and the dog in the foreground seems alive. His children's pictures are delightful and Prince of Asturias is a very interesting picture of a boy dressed for hunting with a lace collar, gloves and cap with a gun in his hand and a big dog at his feet.

Probably the most noted of his pictures is the Infanta Margarita of Austria, afterwards Empress. He painted her size times at different ages. In this picture she was about nine years old and is formally dressed with immense hoop skirts, a large handkerchief, diamonds, and earrings and a red scarf in her hair.

We had lunch in the basement of the Prado, which was crowded with tourists after a few hours in the Prado one is in a state of mental confusion.

The Alcala Doornay in Madrid, Spain.

There were beds of tulips in bloom in all the public squares. It was a beautiful sight — red, yellow and rose.

There are three million people in Madrid and it is called the "Green City." Much of the city was demolished during the three years of their civil war, between 1936 and 1939. They began rebuilding about 1940.

As in many European cities the stores close from one to three, but stay open until seven or eight. The dining room in our hotel doesn't open for dinner until 7:30 p.m. The guide told us that the city was called the "City of Cats" because the people "live at night."

He shows open at 10:30 p.m. The guide told us of the extreme temperature in Madrid. In some part it goes up as high as a hundred and forty degrees and here in Madrid it is about a hundred and thirty.

Our hotel, the Plaza, is situated on a square where they are engaged in extensive repairs. In the center is a tall statue and underneath the life size figure of Don Quixote on a horse, and Sancho Panza on a donkey.

As we came out of our hotel, we saw a lot of people. He has a definite elon-

GOD'S WORD

Many times, by reading example, Jesus brought forth to the disciples following the importance of finding faith and hope in the words of God. In this modern world we live in, the importance of God's word is being adapted to the role of everyday conversation, even of us. Neither wealth nor power can insulate us against some of the common ailments. We cannot buy a guarantee of health. The right to live is a sacred responsibility that is not for sale. We cannot buy the tomorrow we want. What day brings depends upon many things — our own individual efforts, the love that takes place around us, the people with whom we live. But, one thing is sure, our future depends upon the word of God. If we have the strength and the faith that may be found in the words of God.

SOBRE LA INSPECCION DE CARROS

Segun declaraciones sobre preguntas que se han hecho sobre las próximas inspecciones de autos, planas los oficiales que las "luzes" del frente se

Todo lo que se mueva, que posea placas de licencia, debe ser inspeccionado. No los móviles homes estacionados, pero si los que cogen carretera.

Hay como 202,000 vehículos con licencia registrados en el Condado de Palm Beach. Comenzará la inspección el 3 de Junio.

Al entrar hay que entregar al inspector $1.75 por los servicios, y el recibo de la chapa. Entonces el día que pruebe sus luces de delantales, y limpia parabrisas. Después probarán los frenos. Si frenos de emergencia también debe estar en operación. Inspección. Después también las luces del freno. De lo que se puede oír a 200 pies.

Las gomas deben estar en buen estado, no debe tener ni bichitos, ni bollos, ni nudos. Entonces viene el chequeo del frenado, que por el momento no se lleva a cabo, sino que se construyeron estaciones de inspección permanentes. Entonces chequearán si están muy sueltas las cojunturas o uniones de los collares del timón y de las ruedas.

El último requerimiento era que un inspector le pegue su certificado de inspección en el parabrisas a la izquierda.

Si su carro necesita re-inspección para poder pasar el examen, deberá pagar de nuevo $1.75 en otra estación de re-inspección, cinco días más tarde.

Para los residentes del área del Glades, la estación provisional para la inspección de autos se halla al fondo del parking area del County Building que quedó en la carretera US 441 entre Belle Glade y Pahokee.

En los Estatutos de la Florida se dice que ninguna persona puede vender ningún vehículo de motor usado que no lleve pegado el certificado vigente de inspección aprobada.

LA ZAFRA EN PUERTO RICO

La zafra de café en Puerto Rico ha sido la peor de su historia. Se espera producir solamente 660,000 toneladas cortas de azúcar de una cuota autorizada de 1,170,000 toneladas. Este déficit representa una pérdida de $75 millones de pesos para la economía de la isla.

El problema que el Congreso de los Estados Unidos continúa asignando a Puerto Rico es de mas de un millón de toneladas. Los productores domésticos de Florida y Louisiana y algunas áreas extranjeras como la República Dominicana están presionando fuertemente por una parte de ### la cuota de Puerto Rico.

A pesar del desastre de la zafra de este año, se estima que no se trate de una industria en peligro de muerte. Se considera que Puerto Rico entrará en una nueva etapa en que se estabilizará su producción con solo una decena de ingenios y una producción anual de 725,000 toneladas.

Este año por primera vez se utilizaron en Puerto Rico cortadores de caña mecánicos que reducen el costo de labor.

COSECHERAS MECANICAS LISTAS PARA LA FLORIDA.
La C.A. J. L. Engineering, de Louisiana, ha anunciado el desarrollo de dos cosechadoras combinadas, aptas para cortar y cargar como 60 toneladas de caña de azúcar por hora. Trabajando cooperativamente con los cosecheros de la Florida, esta firma conduce sus programas de desarrollo para las condiciones floridianas.

Una de estas unidades corta y carga dos tercios de caña simultáneamente a razón de 60 toneladas por hora. Especialmente apropiada para caña acostada.

La otra unidad es un nuevo modelo de cosechadora de ruidos, que corta y carga 40 toneladas de caña por hora, trabajando un solo tercio de caña en cada paso. Es una maquinaria ideal para condiciones adversas, particularmente en caña acostada.

Dejenos saber lo que necesitan. Encontraremos la mejor para servirlos.

En Puerto Rico se probó una de estas cosechadoras en Mayo 1967, y fue comprada la maquinaria, ordenando tres más. El punto de la caña cortada a mano se calcula a $2.25 por tonelada, y calculan que con la cosechadora mecánica es $1 o $1.25.

ELECTRIC IRRIGATION DOES IT BEST

Supplying cropland and citrus groves with water is simple with an electric-pumped irrigation system. It's a profit-making production tool. Assures higher-level, higher-quality yields. Conserves water, too. You sprinkle just the amount you need, where and when needed.

Electric motors for years after years of dependable performance will give you peace of mind. Can be controlled by time-clocks or float-switches to make irrigation automatic and economical.

A Day Of Infamy?

No Just Stop Day

Friday, May 16 started out like any other school day at Belle Glade High School. Every thing seemed normal until the first senior arrived on Campus. It was Ken Wooten dressed in his father's polka-dot underwear, love beads, and a tattoo in the center of his torso. And then a few more weird ones arrived on the scene. They were Jorge Campa, turned Mexican and Molly Thomas, looking very much like a hippie. Well maybe not so dramatic, they haven't decided to let the students go wild and roam the halls freely. It was just "Stop Day," a day set aside each year when the seniors can come to school dressed in their "true identity."

Friday, May 16, will go down in history as a day of infamy. It will maybe not so dramatic, maybe just "Senior Stop Day," 1968.

Big Mouth

Ray E. what's this we hear about you being found with a mass of your mouth at the beach?

Coordination plus was demonstrated again at just what Mary Helen F. at the prom. How did your picture turn out anyway?

Margaret T., it looked like you were taking family pictures at the prom, how about it?

Barbara D., Bruce M., and Henry R. glad to know you all finally made it to the banquet! Congratulations Margaret C. for making it down the steps this year without a faltering HITEP!

Brenda, Sue and Barbara are really getting sentimental on us, having their picture made together.

Boy, Pam, you sure turned out at the banquet. Could it have been caused by a certain birthday song?

Debbie L., do you always come home from the beach with burns on the side of your feet?

RAMPAGE INTERVIEWS MR. RASCO Where Has All The Freedom Gone?

Following is an interview the RAMPAGE had with Mr. Jim Rasco, B.G.H.S. Business Instructor.

RAMPAGE: How long have you been teaching business courses?

MR. RASCO: Four Years.

RAMPAGE: What first interested you in teaching business courses?

MR. RASCO: I was first interested in business courses by my teachers in high school.

RAMPAGE: What sex is more adept at typing?

MR. RASCO: Girls are with out a doubt, best. Girls do fine with the sewing and washing dishes, which strengthen all their fingers. Boys use basically two fingers, the middle finger and index finger. It seems that my worst typists are athletes. People who play the piano are usually my best typists, because all their fingers are strong.

RAMPAGE: What course do you enjoy teaching the most?

MR. RASCO: Typing.

RAMPAGE: Have you ever had any boys take a class?

MR. RASCO: Yes, goh!—The first year I was here I had two, the next year none. Next year I expect a few. It is a very lucrative course, because there is a great demand for male secretaries.

RAMPAGE: We've always been told shorthand would help in taking notes in college. What is your opinion?

MR. RASCO: It's bound to help in college. You know shorthand well... But as a rule it takes more time to learn to be good in shorthand.

RAMPAGE: Have the principles of teaching business courses changed?

MR. RASCO: There is more to teach. We use a lot more devices, and tapes in Business Courses. We use a lot more machinery as a business instructor at Belle Glade High School. In four years it's really grown.

RAMPAGE: What is the basic teaching principles you have to up date your teaching principles. We hope to see a change in typing next year.

RAMPAGE: What is the possible change in typing next year?

RASCO: There is a possible change in books, but it might take longer than one year to get them. This book (the old one) is set up for 40 minute classes, you get bored. The new book is set up for 50 minute classes, the students will be pushed but they won't be bored and I would rather have more to teach than not enough. I will also be using the overhead projector as well as my records and tapes.

RAMPAGE: What is the highest rate of words per minute typed by your students?

RASCO: I once had a girl type 67 words per minute with no errors on a five minute writing. This was last year, and this year a girl typed 64 words per minute with no mistakes on a five minute writing. On one one-minute writing a girl typed 72 words per minute with no mistakes.

RAMPAGE: What is the average words per minute typed by your class?

MR. RASCO: About 45 words per minute.

RAMPAGE: What do you feel the typewriter will be 50 years from now look like?

MR. RASCO: Well—over the last 50 years basically it hasn't changed much. I would not be surprised to see a complete keyboard change. We already have electric typewriters and the keyboard change. Maybe some day we'll be able to put a piece of paper in a typewriter and let it go. There will still be a basic course in typing. Next year, Palm Beach County will offer personal typing for 15 credit. Typing is now taught on all grade levels from seventh to twelfth grades. I feel in the next few years we will have all electric typewriters and I really look forward to this day.

RAMPAGE: Do you have any more comments to make?

MR. RASCO: Business Education is a vocational course. I believe if you go to Belle Glade High School and take all business courses you don't need to go to a business school. I don't think the business schools have anything more to offer to someone who has taken our business course. Next year our business department will be expanding and we will have more and better courses.

It has been asked if we, as Americans, have exercised our freedom until we are slowly but surely losing them all. The disastors who are protesting against our country fail to see that if they lived anywhere else in the world they would be imprisoned, if not executed, for speaking against the government. It is the same government that allows them to protest what they are protesting against.

Knight - M Heart Ass

Mrs. Sam N. Knight, who has served three times as chairman of the Glades Heart Ball, was honored by the Heart Association of Palm Beach County during its annual awards banquet, Saturday at the Towers in Palm Beach.

Joe B. Shearouse, outgoing president, presented a gold heartshaped pin to Mrs. Knight as a "special token of our appreciation and affection."

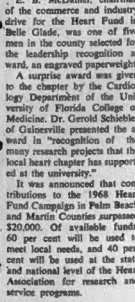

State Sen. Jerry Thomas was named a life member of the board of directors, along with being cited by the association with its highest award, the Distinguished Achievement Medal.

Thomas, a six-year volunteer of the Heart Association, has served as campaign chairman, president and chairman of the board.

E. B. McDaniel, chairman of the commerce and industry drive for the Heart Fund in Belle Glade, was one of five men in the county selected for the leadership recognition award, an engraved paperweight.

A surprise award was given to the chapter by the Cardiac Jogy Department of the University of Florida College of Medicine. Dr. Gerold Scheiber of Gainesville presented the award in "recognition of the many research projects that the local heart chapter has supported at the university."

It was announced that contributions to the 1968 Heart Fund Campaign in Palm Beach and Martin Counties surpassed $20,000. Of available funds, 60 per cent will be used to meet local needs, and 40 per cent will be used at the state and national level of the Heart Association for research and service programs.
